TO THE CLASS OF 1989

Dear Members of the Class of 1989:

You have achieved a significant milestone in your life as you prepare to become a professional and a positive contributor to society. Completing a college education is a worthy and memorable experience. Those of us who have traveled the same pathways know the feelings you are having and can reflect on our own graduations.

Your alma mater, as it approaches its centennial, has a bright future. The University's growth and development has moved forward at an accelerated pace during your matriculation here at the University. You have witnessed many new academic programs and new facilities designed to create an institution that can adequately meet the academic and regional needs of its people. We often refer to your alma mater as a "Rising star in the Northeast." It is truly that, but let me caution you, it is still rising. To continue to rise, it needs your support both morally and financially. The goal of this University is to become the most attractive institution of higher education in our state and nation. Your support added to that of other alumni will ensure that by our centennial, "The Rising Star in the Northeast" will be at its apex. So I say to you, when you look to the East, you will see a star and that star is Elizabeth City State University.

Faleese and I, along with all members of the University family, wish for you a most successful and productive life and we ask God's blessings upon each of you.

Respectfully yours,

Jimmy R. Jenkins
Chancellor

STUDENT LIFE

At ECSU

Dear Fellow Vikings and Staff members,

As editor of the 1989 yearbook — THE RISING STAR IN THE NORTHEAST — it has been my great pleasure to work with and for you. It is also my hope that this edition will be the best in the 64 years of its history at ECSU.

Your cooperation in this endeavor has helped to enable us to take photos, identify those pictures, laynut pages, meet deadlines, and make a lot of friends along the way. We believe all of this will make our efforts worthy of your participation in the yearbook.

To the yearbook staff, I couldn't have done it without you. All the long hours and tense moments have paid off. The fruits of our labor have ripened. We have produced a yearbook that will serve as a record of the social and academic activities of ECSU during the past years. For this, I thank you.

I must also mention the contribution of our advisor, Dr. Glenda M. Davis for her unselfish dedication to this project and her inspiration and service to all of us. She pushed us when we needed pushing, and calmed us when we needed calming, and was always there when we needed her. For this great service, I would like to say thank you so very much, Dr. Glenda M. Davis.

During some of the time when I was working hardest on the annual — as well as during other difficult times in my life — I have often re-read a poem, which brought clarity to my confusion and helped me focus on the task at hand. I would like to close by sharing the poem with you. The poem is "Friends" by Elizabeth Landeweer.

I could not see the Christ in you
Because I did not try
To focus truly with my heart,
And with my inner eye;
You seemed to hide behind a wall,
And I myself was shy,
But one dark day of loss and pain
You put your hand in mine,
And offered sympathy and love
That I could not decline,
And then I looked into your eyes,
And there I saw Him shine.

Respectfully Yours,

Donte Crowell

Donte Crowell, Editor

Although the year 1988-89 marks my first year at ECSU, therefore classifying me as a freshman, my fellow co-workers did not think any less of me for this particular fact. They were not looking for a person merely for the reasons of classification, or popularity, they were looking for a person who would be loyal, hard-working, and honest. Not only are these qualities possessed and utilized by me, but by the entire annual staff.

Upon entering my first meeting held by the annual staff, I was lacking self-confidence, tensed and all but frightened. However, after the first fifteen minutes I began to loosen up as well as listen up. After observing for a while, I noticed an excessive amount of confidence, energy, and unity which are the qualities needed to have a successful yearbook. Therefore, I regained my self-confidence, courage, and stamina. Thereafter, I defined my job and began to do it to the best of my ability.

To more or less sum up my year with the Annual Staff, I would say it helped me in two ways. First, this experience served to speed up my maturing process, meaning that, I learned to rationalize and be open-minded, regardless of my personal opinions. Second, I learned how to work as well as converse with people with whom I was not familiar. For all these reasons and more, I would like to say Thank You to the yearbook supervisor, Dr. Davis, the Editor, Donte Crowell, my Co-Editors, and the Annual Staff, for helping to make my freshman year here at ECSU one of the best ones.

Thank You,

Jessica Burden

Never Enough Time for the Viking Staff

The Viking yearbook is a very important and growing product of Elizabeth City State University. Our Viking Staff consists of dependable and responsible students. Without these factors the 1988-89 Viking yearbook would not have been a success. We, the Viking yearbook staff, are striving to make each edition of the yearbook a cherishable treasure filled with memories of Elizabeth City State University. The main goal of the staff is to make this 64th volume of the yearbook the most prestigious yearbook thus far.

My job title as the student advisor to the editor was given because of my experience and dedication to the yearbook during my years here at Elizabeth City State University. I advise the editors and other staff members by making helpful suggestions about yearbook information and by solving any problem that might come up during the year.

As a rising senior next year, I plan to make this 64th and the 65th volume the best that this school has seen thus far.

I would like to take this time to thank the yearbook staff, as a whole, for its hard work and dedication to this yearbook. Thanks to Jessica and Donte for all their help and words of encouragement throughout the year. I would like to say, continue the good work to Dr. Glenda Davis, our advisor and my friend; I would like to thank you for your words of encouragement. You are not only our advisor, but our friend, and may we always be friends. I would like to thank Dr. Henderson, Chairperson of Language, Literature, and Communication, for her help and encouraging words; Dr. White, for his hard work and influences, not just on the yearbook, but on me. I have found him to be a great role model for me, and I must say thanks to our chancellor Dr. Jimmy R. Jenkins for having a well organized school in both the areas of academic and extra-curricula activities. For without him we would not have the yearbook.

Thanks,

Student Advisor

TO THE CLASS OF 1989:

Many have tried, but failed. Now, you are an inspiration. Go forward with God to make your lives and the lives of others glorious and inspiring. May you follow the "code of life" subscribed by George Jean Nathan: "My code of life and conduct is simply this: work hard; play to the allowable limit; disregard equally the good and bad opinion of others; never do a friend a dirty trick . . . never grow indignant over anything . . . live the moment to the utmost of its possibilities . . . and be satisfied with life always, but never with oneself.

I wish you Godspeed.

ZETA PHI BETA

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority was founded January 16, 1920 on the campus of Howard University in Washington, D.C. by five coeds. These women dared to depart from the traditional coalitions for Black women and sought to establish a new organization predicated on the precepts of scholarship, service, sisterhood and Finer Womanhood. For sixty-eight years, the trail blazed by the founders has been traversed by thousands of women dedicated to the emulation of the objectives and ideals of the Sorority.

Since its inception, the Sorority has expanded to encompass more than 500 graduate and collegiate chapters. These chapters are located throughout the continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, the Bahama Islands, West Africa, and West Germany.

The undergraduate chapter on Elizabeth City State University's campus is the Alpha Gamma Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. Our sorority strives to attract women with zeal, academic abilities, ambition, career orientation, dedication, and above all a sincere concern for all people.
